

Acknowledgement

First of all, I express my heartfelt gratitude to Mr. M Haque, respected Chairman, ERDF and Prof. P.G. Rao, honorable Vice-Chancellor, USTM whose encouragement enabled me to do research for Ph.D. programme. It would not have been completed without the active support of them. Their unending cooperation, constant guidance made it possible.

I am immensely grateful to my supervisors Dr. Maqbul Ali, Associate Professor, Department of Sociology and Social Work, School of Social Sciences and Humanities, USTM and Dr. S. U. Ahmed, Associate Professor and HOD, Department of History, Karimganj College, Karimganj for their painstaking guidance, encouragement and understanding. Their untiring help, valuable suggestions and strong support are gratefully acknowledged. I here by highly thank them for their patient and selfless sacrifice in every possible way.

I convey my sincerest gratitude to Prof. R.K. Sharma, Pro-Vice-Chancellor, USTM, Dr. C.R. Sarkar, Controller of Examinations, USTM, Mrs. Anju Hazarika, Registrar, USTM, Prof. M. Ahmed, Former Professor, USTM, Prof. ANS Ahmed, Former Professor, Indian Institute of Technology, Guwahati, Dr. (Mrs.) Alaka Sarma, USTM, Prof. Dinesh Baishya for their affection and personal care extended to me and for the great latitude they allowed me to approach them off and on and insisted upon precise expression and careful documentation. It is entirely their ingenuity, working on which turned out to be the most rewarding experience for me.

I have no language to express my indebtedness to Prof. J.B. Bhattacharjee, Retd. Prof. of History, NEHU, Prof. F.A. Qadri of NEHU, Prof. Irsat Alam of AMU, Dr. Kamaluddin Ahmed Retd. Principal and HOD, Dept. of History, Karimganj College, Dr. Nilanjan De of R. S. Girls' College for their valuable suggestions, free discussions and help in different stages in writing this thesis. Disregarding their pressing personal schedule, they spared their valuable time whenever approached them for discussion to any related matter in connection with my quarries on some special aspects of my work.

I do acknowledge the help and kindness of many authorities, organizations, institutions and individuals. The most important of them are USTM Library, NEHU Library, Gauhati University Library, Assam University Library, Cotton College Library, Karimganj College Library, G.C. College Library, National Library, Kolkata, National Archives of India, New Delhi, Historical and Antiquarian Studies, Govt. of Assam, Assam State Museum, Education Directorates, Govt. of Assam and Meghalaya, State Archives of Assam, Meghalaya Secretariat Library. Bangladesh Itihas Samiti, North East India History Association and Indian History Congress.

I also like to record my gratitude to the respected teachers of the Sociology and Social Work Department, USTM, for their encouragement, help and cooperation. Again, I fondly remember my respected teachers in Aligarh Muslim University who taught me to merge life with learning.

I owe my gratitude to Mr. P.K. Dev Nath, Principal of my College and my colleagues in the Department of History of the same college for their bearing with my absence gracefully.

I also acknowledge my ineptness to all whose works I have consulted, referred to and quoted.

It would be failing in my duty if I forget to thank Mr. Manash Bhattacharjee, whose expertise in typing concretized my thesis.

I extend my respect, love and affection and even gratitude to my elder brother Anowar Hussain, Mr. Abdul Khaleque, Ex-MLA, Jania whose unbelievable understanding and restraint made me shake off all sorts of dismay that would overwhelmed or drowsy me at different times while proceeding with investigation and preparing the thesis.

My gratitude to my wife Mazmeen Forida Ahmed (Mamoni) and my sweet daughter Iffah for overlooking my absentmindedness and periods of nervous dejection and for buoying me up with all practical and psychological support.
